

Career Opportunities for New Graduate Nurses

Northwestern Medicine welcomes your application as a new graduate nurse.

Northwestern Medicine hires new graduates before they sit for the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). We have start dates for new hires every two weeks. You must have passed the NCLEX before your start date at Northwestern Medicine.

Once they are hired, new grad nurses are automatically enrolled in our residency program. The program length varies by location.

If you graduate in December, we recommend that you start applying in October. If you graduate in May or June, we recommend that you start applying in February and March.

Visit jobs.nm.org to sign up to get alerts for new roles and to start the application process.
