

Long Beach, California

A place to learn, live and belong.

Long Beach offers a vibrant place to live and train along the Southern California coast. The community combines beach-city energy, diverse neighborhoods, arts, food, waterfront recreation and easy access to greater Los Angeles and Orange County.

LOCATION

Southern California coast

LIFESTYLE

Urban, coastal and diverse

SETTING

Waterfront city with regional access

Why Long Beach

Residents and trainees learn in a diverse coastal city with strong neighborhood identity, local amenities and meaningful opportunities to serve patients and families.

Community connection

A city of distinct neighborhoods, local businesses, community events and opportunities to build relationships.

Coastal access

Beaches, waterfront paths, parks and marinas make it easy to spend time outside.

Regional reach

Los Angeles, Orange County and coastal destinations are within reach for day trips and weekend exploring.

Recharge by the water

From beach walks to waterfront dining and nearby trails, Long Beach offers many ways to reset outside of work.

Things to do nearby

- Beach walks, biking and waterfront paths
- Parks, marinas and kayaking
- Museums, music, food and local events
- Easy trips across Los Angeles and Orange County

Arts, culture and community

Long Beach is home to arts, music, festivals, diverse food, waterfront attractions and family-friendly events. For trainees and families, the area offers an energetic place to live, train and serve.